Press release

GSK Stockmann and the Brexit Institute announce the extension of their partnership agreement

Based on the successful partnership agreement between GSK Stockmann and the Brexit Institute since 2020, GSK Stockmann will continue to sponsor the activities of the Institute in the field of European affairs for three more years – until 2027.

The partnership agreement was extended in light of a number of important developments in relation to EU financial and economic affairs.

Valerio Scollo, Partner at GSK Stockmann in Luxembourg, comments: “GSK Stockmann is pleased about the extension of the partnership agreement with the Brexit Institute providing insights on the future of the European Union. Situated in the heart of Europe, the Luxembourg office of GSK Stockmann is ideally positioned to support the activities of the Brexit Institute.”

Professor Federico Fabbrini, Full Professor of EU Law and Founding Director of the Brexit Institute says: “As the Brexit Institute steadily expands its remit – as visible with the recent establishment of the Dublin European Law Institute – and secures new EU research projects – notably a major Jean Monnet Network – we are delighted to continue the fruitful and enriching cooperation with a leading European law firm like GSK Stockmann.”

Given the multifaceted legal, political and economic implications of Brexit, Dublin City University (DCU) has established the Brexit Institute with the aim to explore how Brexit impacts on government, business and society at large. The DCU Brexit Institute operates as a hub and a magnet for the analysis of Brexit, both from an academic and a policy perspective. Through the organization of regular events the Brexit Institute provides a
